

Research Question Generator

Look over your notes about your research:

Ask yourself who is impacted by your topic. Which population? People, animals, the environment? Consider gender, age, or profession.

What aspect of your topic are you interested in? Is there a theme or category that you'd like to focus on? The causes? The effects or implications? The solutions?

Ask yourself when. Are you interested in the current situation? In the past? Are you interested in a specific event? Looking to the future?

Ask yourself where. Consider countries, regions, states, types of places like workplace, schools, online.

Refining a Research Topic
What is your general topic ?
Who:
What:
When:
Where:
Restate your topic as a focused research question or statement:

From: University of Michigan Library Skills Challenge
<https://umich.instructure.com/courses/824/modules/items/79077>